Coast school officials eye transportation funding

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Mississippi Gulf Coast School Superintendent's Organization, meeting at noon Thursday at Scafield's Wheel Inn Restaurant, found inadequate transportation budgets to be a problem common to coast school districts.

"Each month the group meets in a different school district to discuss mutual problems, and the Hancock County School District hosted this month's meeting," said Billy Sills, Hancock County's superintendent of education.

Henry Arledge, Harrison County's superintendent of education, said his transportation budget is inadequate and he will ask his state representative to introduce legislation asking for additional funds.

Hancock County's School Board recently asked its attorney to request local state officials to draft legislation for additional transportation funds. Sills informed the group of Hancock County's similar intentions and said, "The transportation allotment from the State Department of Education has not been raised in well over 20 years."

Leroy Lizana, superintendent of the Pass Christian Municipal Separate School District asked about the proper procedures for giving trophies and jackets to students.

"Dr. Woodrow Marsh, director of the Mississippi High School Activities Association, said the statute is broad in this area. I think the only way the situation is going to change is to change the law," said Allen Curry, superintendent of the Ocean Springs Municipal

Ex-Youth Court official charged in embezzlement

By RICH ADAMS

Former Hancock County Youth Court Administrator Charles Carter, who resigned from that position Christmas Day, was arrested Thursday night by Sheriff Ronnie Peterson for alleged embezzlement of public funds.

Peterson said Carter is charged with allegedly transferring some $3,859 of youth court restitution funds into his own bank account during the period July, 1978 to Dec. 25, 1979.

The Hancock County Grand Jury returned an indictment on the charges against Carter Thursday, the sheriff reported.

Peterson said he received a call Jan. 7, shortly after his inauguration to the office of sheriff, from a Chancery Court judge who has supervisory jurisdiction in youth court matters.

The judge suggested Peterson investigate the alleged shortage in restitution funds, the sheriff added.

Highway Patrol Investigators Joe Price and P.M. (Mickey) Lader were asked to assist in the investigation, which was coordinated with Youth Court Referee Michael Haas, the sheriff said.

"I felt the matter needed a thorough investigation, and after conferring with District Attorney Albert Necaise, he agreed and assigned the two state investigators to assist in the investigation," Peterson said.

"After the investigation we presented the case to the Grand Jury and received an indictment against Carter," the sheriff added.

Carter was arrested on the em-may have occurred as early as March, 1978 and the amount of the alleged embezzlement could reach as much as $4,100," Peterson said.

"Right now we can only account for $3,859," he added.

"Most of the checks involved which were drawn from the account by Mr.

Carter were in $50 and $100 increments," the sheriff reported.

"Much of the restitution is paid in small amounts, such as $10 or $20 a week, but it does add up over a period of time," Peterson added.

Grand Jury indicts Moran

By RICH ADAMS

Edgar Pete Moran, a Hancock County election official charged with the April 14 shooting death of Curtis (Chopper) Holman, was indicted for that murder by the Hancock County Grand Jury Thursday.

Holman was a lineman for Coast Electric Company in Bay St. Louis and was found on the floor of his company-owned truck on Cuevavtown Road with a bullet wound in the head.

Later that same day Hancock County Sheriff's deputies arrested Moran and charged him with murder after he allegedly confessed to the shooting, according to Former Sheriff Sylvan J. Lader.

Moran's indictment was among 32 handed down by the Grand Jury after assembling for four days.

The jury also toured the Hancock County Jail, Sheriff's Department, Youth Court Building, Home for the Aged, and Hancock General Hospital, later making recommendations for improvements at some of those facilities.

County schools ok gridiron proposal

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County School Board, following almost two hours of private hearings in executive session Saturday, accepted a recommendation from its athletic director and coaches that the district join a proposed new football conference.

Hancock North Central's varsity teams have competed as independents for the past three years. The school had previously been a member of the Pascagoula River Conference.

However, the board took under advise a recommendation to support a proposed state football playoff system until it could obtain more information about the proposal.

Head Football Coach Irvin Favre said the proposed conference will include teams in this athletic district which are more equal in enrollment with one another rather than the present Pascagoula River Conference which often pits teams with school enrollment of 500 against another with enrollment of 1,500.

Lafitte paving ok'd by Waveland

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen, at a recess meeting Wednesday night, approved a change order to include Lafitte Drive in an existing paving contract with Pearl River Paving Co. of Picayune.

Mayor John Longo hopes to have the street paved before the Feb. 10 Mardi Gras parade because of an existing flooding problem on the thoroughfare.

"I would love to get Lafitte paved before the parade," Longo stated.

"We'll try to put a crown on the street to throw most of the water standing in the street into the ditches," said Alderman Herman Yarbrough.

Pearl River Paving Co. already has a contract to pave several Waveland streets, according to Alderman Barbara Rappold.

The board approved a $1,520 bid from Covington Construction Co. of Gulfport for a live water tap corner of Jeff Davis and Merritt Street.

"A live tap will enable us to connect the Merritt Street water line to the one on Jeff Davis without interrupting water service," Longo explained.

The board approved donating $1,500 to Waveland's Little League for materials to construct a combination concession stand and bathroom facility at the Waveland Avenue baseball field.

It was also stipulated in the motion that building codes be checked before work begins on the structure.

Leonard E. Logan, representing local Little League, reported on materials estimates he received from local building supply houses for a concrete block structure. All labor will be donated.

Yarbrough recommended a wood frame structure and said, "Your costs will be more than you've estimated for the block building because you'll have to pour concrete inside the blocks and tie them in with steel to meet Southern Standard Building Codes."

"The recreation budget can handle this and we could get federal money for balls and bats," Longo said.

There was also discussion regarding the location of the building.

"If we're going to spend this type of money it should be nice for everybody," Alderman Louie Smolensky said.

Logan hopes to complete the Little League facility before April 24.

The board appointed attorney Walter Gex to appear on the city's behalf in a suit between Jennifer Perrillat and Raymond Ladner.

City Attorney Lucien Gex is attorney for Perrillat and could not represent the city.

Waveland has been ordered to join Perrillat in the suit enjoining Ladner from interfering with Perrillat's use of Magnolia Drive.

Perrillat and Waveland claim Magnolia Avenue is a publicly dedicated street.

In other business, the board:

—Authorized Rappold to negotiate purchasing land corner of Hurley and Dixie Streets for the Middletown Playground with Department of Housing the Urban Development and the three landowners involved;

—Approved minutes of last meeting and authorized payment of bills;

—Approved paying $895 to Lucien Gex for legal fees;

—Approved placing a $15 advertisement with the Legal Secretary's Association;

—Approved removal of a home from the tax rolls located at 115 Bienville Drive owned by Panorama, Inc. of Waveland.

"The home wasn't finished until March and should not have been put on the tax rolls," Rappold said.

—Took under advisement bids from Ladd's Construction Co. and Hargett's Construction Co., both of Waveland, for work on three homes in the Middletown Revitalization Area;

—Took under advisement bids from People's Federal Savings and Loan Association and Merchant's Bank as depositories for city funds.

"People's Federal is offering the city 10 percent and Merchant's is offering 10 percent," Rappold said.

—Took under advisement some 15 bids on supplies for various city departments; —Heard a report by the city attorney regarding easements for the Nicholson Avenue and US-90 sewer crossing.

"Milford Lady of Waveland Resort

Inn and Sam Favre, the attorney representing Town Square, have agreed to give easements for the project," Gex said.

"I have a description of the easements," Gex added.

—Heard a report by Longo about his seat on the Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater District.

Longo asked the board if he should resign but, Gex advised him to retain his seat on the district and abstain from voting on issues when he felt a moral obligation not to vote;

Heard a report by Longo that city officials will meet with the American Legion 7:30 p.m. Jan. 30 to discuss lights for the Waveland Park field, sponsoring ball teams, sponsoring baseball fields, placing flags at fields and reworking the city pier;

—Received a survey of catholic protection work on gas lines from R.C. Engineering and Construction Co.;

—Received the annual police report.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 5.

used at the end of the year," Lizana added.

"The same thing can be done with the yearbook fund," Reeves said.

Lizana asked opinions regarding the new ruling of the Southern Superintendent's Association that a director of curriculum be hired by school districts.

"I will hire one," Sills said.

"I want to get a job description. I find we've got good programs but no coordination," Reeves stated.

"You need to make the coordinator director of instructional personnel," Sills added.

"A specialist for curriculum is hard to find," Lizana stated.

In regard to deaf education, Lizana said, "We have three children at St. Rita's School for the Deaf in Jackson which costs about $5,000 a year per child. Next year I will have high school age kids who are hard of hearing. We need to have another meeting to have a consortium."

"I don't have a contingency in my budget so I need to talk with Sills and McCulloch" (Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District superintendent) about a school for the deaf," Lizana said.

"Since we set our budget we've had changes. We need to discuss this situation because originally I had two teachers on state funding with our district only paying a supplement," Lizana explained.

Attending Thursday's meeting were Harlin Hill, Hancock County School District coordinator; Dr. Gordon Walker, Harrison County's assistant superintendent of education; Jack Eddy, Ocean Springs' assistant superintendent of education; Curry; Reeves; Lizana; Arledge; and Sills.

The sheriff said a letter of resignation from Carter to Haas read, "This is to inform you that I am submitting this resignation effective at your pleasure," giving no reason for the resignation.

Youth Court Referee Haas said Friday he is "not in a position to comment on a matter before the court," but added he has personally replaced Carter as administrator.

Magee returns from four month Mexican oil spill study project

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Bay St. Louis native Ronald G. Magee recently returned from a four month assignment in Corpus Christi, Texas providing engineering support to scientist studying the Mexican oil spill still out of "The Mexican oil spill, called IXTOC-I, blew out June 3, 1979 and in early August oil came on shore in Texas," Magee said.

"I arrived in Corpus Christi on Aug. 30 to provide engineering support to the IXTOC-I Spill Response

Magee recalls a day long helicopter survey of tar ball concentrations along the Texas coast in late September as an interesting and fun experience.

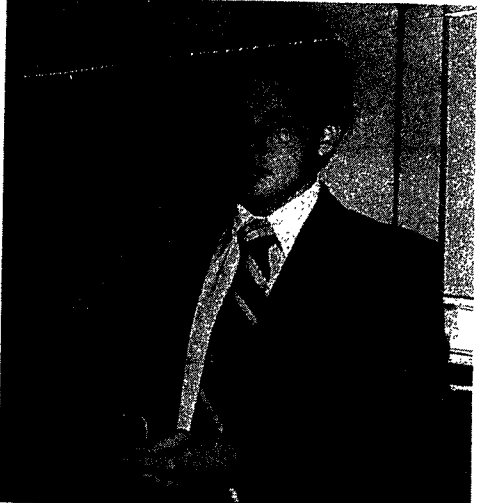

"We stopped at different areas to look at tar ball distributions along the Texas coast and we dove off the coast to take core samples from the ocean floor," Magee said.

Magee explained that tar balls have been a common phenomena along the Gulf Coast for many years.

"There are no definite theories on how tar balls are initially produced but, we are trying to find ways of decreasing their concentration," Magee explained.

The CSC biologist said researchers are still working on damage assessment information gathered off the Texas coast for a socioeconomic report on the spill's effects.

"We are looking at things that can be put in dollar values—not just aquatic life but people as well," Magee said.

Magee is the biologist for Computer Sciences Corporation's (CSC) National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) division in Hancock County.

"CSC has the contract for engineering and scientific support for some 25 agencies here at NSTL," Magee explained.

"We are working on the Mexican oil spill project with the Office of Marine Pollution Assessment, a division of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA)," Magee added.

"I originally became involved working with tar balls which are accumulations of highly weathered oil found all along the U.S. Gulf Coast.

Team. My initial duties were to provide logistical support and office organization," Magee stated.

Magee was one of some 12 people from NSTL involved in the survey and while in Texas he lived on Padre Island just off Corpus Christi.

"Logistics support involved scheduling of helicopters, overflight passengers, etc.—the behind the scene things that make an operation run smoothly," Magee explained.

"Later on," after the spill response died down (after the oil stopped coming ashore), I became part of the Damage Assessment Team. I continued in my administration logistics role but, I also provided scientific input into damage assessment activities," Magee added.

Editorial

The State is doing its part; we now have to do ours!

The installation of new traffic signals on US-90 at Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis is something many folks have been wanting for years.

We think emphasis should be placed on the fact that the new signals will not eliminate accidents.

We all have a tendency to blame outsiders for causing the accidents at the bridge.

Police reports on 21 accidents at the intersection-11 rear end and 10 right angles-when studied by the State Highway Department revealed some interesting facts.

Six out of the 11 rear end accidents were caused by local residents. Eight out of ten of the right angle accidents were caused by local drivers, so we have been wrong in our tendency to blame out-of-towners.

We, the drivers, have to learn to drive 'defensively' according to Robert W. Mosely, assistant traffic control and safety engineer for the state. Think about this! Mr. Mosely is correct in what he says.

Another interesting item revealed in the State study was the age grouping of the persons causing the accidents studied.

The ages were below 22 and above 51 on up to the high 70's. We appreciate the work of the State Highway Department in the work they are doing at the dangerous intersection. We hope that all of us will be a little extra cautious in our driving, not only at that intersection but wherever we drive.

There will be more accidents at the intersection of US-90 and North Beach, we hope they will be very few and minor.

Please drive safely!

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL
THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

REDISTRIBUTING THE WEALTH

The fastest growing part of the federal budget, according to a recent study by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is income transfer payments-sometimes known as "redistributing the wealth."

The study points out that every worker in the private sector has a hidden dependent-a person who receives a government check under some federal program. About 78.9 million persons work in the private sector while there are 81.5 million who receive a government check. Some receive more than one check.

But not all of the transfer payments are giveaway programs. Those paying Social Security today will share in future benefits.

The United States is a country quite generous in accepting the responsibility of helping the less fortunate, but the problem is to keep the costs of the programs within reasonable and affordable limits.

This massive income redistribution game politicians and Washington bureaucrats play needs to be placed under better controls such as those recommended by the Mississippi Economic Council-several of which have been partially implemented. They are:

-create a Joint Committee on the Budget adequately staffed and equipped to make better use of the facilities of the Comptroller General.

-provide for better cost estimates by requiring that the budget include estimates of total costs of long-range construction and development programs.

-require that reports from legislative committees of Congress which involve expenditures be accompanied by an estimate of the cost of the proposal for at least five years or, where feasible, the life of the project.

-improve staffing of and have more thorough investigations by the appropriations committees.

-conduct annual independent re-examination by Congress of all permanent authorizations and appropriations carried over from previous years.

-adopt a floor schedule in the House and Senate to assure a regular flow of appropriation bills without the end-of-session logjam encountered almost every year.

-and, record individual votes in Congress on all appropriation bills.

Bits-N-Pieces

By Ellis Cuevas

We are glad to see the Hancock County Grand Jury once again stress the need of a new jail.

All the County needs now are some monies to take on the project, and we feel some searching by our political leaders should locate the necessary funds.

It will not be easy, but as we have stated before, a united effort by all political subdivisions could make a new jail and sheriff's office a reality.

We are hoping!

Speeding on highways in Mississippi has come into the lime light once again.

It seems that the Federal Government has been checking Highway speeds throughout the nation and Mississippi stands to lose close to $2 million in federal funds if we do not slow down.

The report from Washington shows Mississippi highway average rate of speed is 59.9 which is 4.9 miles per hour over the national speed limit.

Now we know Hancock County has a good share of speeders since we have so many miles of highways.

Our Mississippi Highway patrolmen assigned to Hancock have written hundreds of speeding tickets during 1979 and many of them to local residents.

The Highway patrolmen are only doing the job they are paid to do when they stop someone for speeding, and we are glad they are doing their job.

When driving, we ask you to please slow down.

An alert citizen can help our communities in many instances, for example, a telephone call to police helped them locate some property stolen in a recent drug store burglary.

We have had conversations with our Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and Bay Chief of Police Douglas Williams and Waveland Chief of Police Donald Dorn and they all agree that public help can be of big value in preventing and solving crimes.

Many times all it takes is a telephone call to the police if you see something out of the ordinary in your neighborhood.

The County sheriff's department now has patrol cars in the county at all times. (We have heard many compliments for Sheriff Peterson since he has taken office and made this service available.)

The cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland also have patrol cars on duty 24 hours a day, and have had for many years.

If you hear about someone purchasing an item for an unbelievable bargain price, could be it was removed from someone's residence, all it would take is a phone call to the police. Your name is not needed, the police investigators will do the rest.

If we in Hancock County can make it hard on the criminal element, they will by pass us for someplace else.

Preparations are being made by many for the coming Mardi Gras activities.

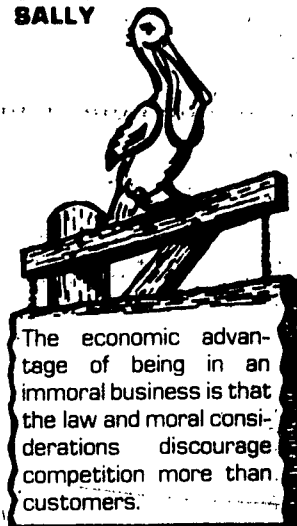

The Carnival balls are beginning to happen and many groups and organizations are planning their floats for the big parades.

We realize the fact that the Krewes of Nereids who parade in Waveland on Sunday, Feb. 10, and Triton who parade down US-90 from Waveland to Bay St. Louis on Mardi Gras Day, Tues. Feb. 19, already have their floats ready because they start a few days after the parade on the next year.

Now is a good time for the individuals and groups, if they have not already, to begin construction of their floats.

After Mardi Gras, of course, we also have the fine Irish Parade in Waveland and it isn't too early to start those float plans.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

Soviet Aggression

The extremely grave international situation illustrated by the continued chaos in Iran and the alarming Soviet invasion of neighboring Afghanistan clearly point out the necessity for America to quickly and drastically upgrade our conventional military capability.

The turmoil in the Middle East is a grim consequence of the failure of American foreign policy and military preparedness the past several years.

In the face of a perceived decline in American power and prestige, the Soviet Union has obviously decided to use its muscle to expand its sphere of influence in strategic areas of the Middle East and Central Asia.

The example of Afghanistan is stark evidence to Third World nations in Asia and Africa that the Soviet Union is ready, willing and able to dominate them militarily, politically, and economically.

We can only wonder if such Afghan neighbors as Iran and Pakistan are next on Russia's list of prospective puppets.

Since we depend on the Middle East OPEC countries for so much of our oil - nearly fifty percent - our own economic and security interests are critical in our relationships with many of these countries. Continued intrigue, unrest and outright subversion by Russian agents or their sympathizers in the Middle East and Africa should be cause for serious concern by all Americans.

Because of the Russian invasion of Afghanistan and adventurism in other parts of the world, I have concluded that it is definitely not in our best national interest to ratify the so-called SALT II treaty. The President has similar concerns, evidenced by his request to the Senate Majority Leader to postpone calling up this controversial strategic arms limitation agreement for Senate debate.

Several months ago I suggested to the President in a personal meeting at the White House that because of presidential campaign politics and Russian adventurism it was my opinion the Senate should not consider ratification of SALT II until after the 1980 elections.

In the light of new aggression by the Soviet Union, it is now uncertain if this agreement will ever come to a vote. It is still my hope, however, that we will continue to work for arms control and stability in the world.

While it is imperative that the United States maintain a strong nuclear arsenal, it is equally important that we rebuild our conventional military capability. There is no doubt that we now have sufficient strike forces, including the aircraft carriers, destroyers and cruisers, cargo planes and other equipment necessary to move, swiftly and effectively to protect our national interests around the world. There is no doubt in my mind that Congress must consider implementing additional shipbuilding, aircraft development, weapons systems, and combat-ready manpower.

During the past decade, we have reduced our armed forces by nearly a million and a half persons, down to a level of barely two million, while the Russians have increased their military forces by nearly a half million, up to about four million, or twice our numbers. While the Russian Navy lagged far behind our fleet in size and capability just a decade ago, it can today challenge us in every ocean. Obviously, the Soviet submarine force outnumbered that of the United States, and in overall totals of Navy vessels, the Russians outnumber us roughly two to one. With an equally massive buildup in nuclear weapons, the Russians have overtaken us and now threaten to gain overall nuclear superiority.

This Russian explosion of deterrence, and the Soviet aggression in Afghanistan, require us to undertake a serious re-examination of foreign policy and our relationship throughout the world.

As your United States Senator, I will continue to insist that we maintain the strength necessary to insure peace and stability in the Free World, and that we clearly demonstrate the will to protect our vital security and economic interests at home and throughout the world.

DIVORCE THERAPY GROUP

The Gulf Coast Mental Health Center is conducting groups for divorced or divorcing persons. The first series begins Monday, and ends on Monday, March 10. The group is designed to provide emotional support as well as a sense of identity for the divorced person. It will also help individuals learn how to deal with situations which are encountered by many newly single persons. Enrollment will be limited to 15 individuals. These individuals must be physically separated and consider divorce imminent or they must be already divorced. Also, there can be no former spouses participating in the same group. The group will meet at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required for participation. For further information, contact Dr. Mary Anne O'Brien at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, 863-1132.

Consumer specialist tells window heat saving tips

"MONEY TALK"

By Norine Barnes

Windows can account for as much as 35 percent of the total heat loss in a home. Tacking sheets of plastic over windows will cut this loss, but there are more aesthetically pleasing solutions to the problem.

Proper window insulation begins with caulking the cracks and weather stripping the frame, and using double or even triple glazing. After that, there are other methods and options that can be used to seal heat into the home.

A variety of interior window treatments, if properly installed and used, can be effective in reducing window heat loss. Energy-efficient window treatments must trap and hold air between the treatment and the glass.

A conventional window shade, mounted inside the frame near the glass and closely fitted at the edges, will reduce window heat loss by approximately 28 percent. If the same shade is installed with side tracks and covered with a reflective material, it may reduce window heat loss by over 50 percent.

Draperies can also be effective but only if they are sealed at both sides, closed at the top, touching the sill or floor, and have a 4-inch sealed overlap at the centers. This method of installation is more important than the fabric, although it should be tightly woven.

Properly installed lined draperies may reduce window heat loss by about 25 percent, and using additional liners with the draperies will make them even more efficient.

Roman shades, made of fabric and operating with a pull cord to stack in horizontal folds at the top of the window when open, are generally more efficient than draperies. If they consist of one to three layers of insulating material, a center layer of plastic as a moisture barrier, a backing, and a decorative fabric on the front, and fit closely at the sides and top they will be from 45 to 46 percent effective.

Venetian blinds, although they allow solar heat to enter a room when opened, are a poor choice and not as effective as other window treatments.

Insulated shutters can be both attractive and efficient. They should consist of insulation, a vapor barrier, and an outer covering. The shutter may be either translucent or opaque, but the opaque shutter is more energy efficient. Shutters are from 55 to 80 percent effective.

Panels made of insulation board, fiberglass, a vapor barrier, and an exterior decorative cover may be made to place in the windows in place of shades, shutters, or draperies.

This type of panel can be very effective and very inexpensive. Panels may be made to be removed each day to allow solar heat in, but the most efficient panels are difficult to remove; therefore, it is suggested they be kept in place for the entire heating season.

Covered in fabric or art work, they can be attractive substitutes for windows and may reduce window heat loss by approximately 85 percent.

A variety of commercial window treatments are also available, but before you choose any window treatment, consider the type of window, its location, the aesthetics of the treatment, the cost, and the payback period.

ASCS Report

BEEF PRODUCERS TO VOTE ON RESEARCH AND INFORMATION PROGRAM
Beef producers will vote early in 1980 on whether they want a nationally coordinated Beef Research and Information Program.

The upcoming referendum was announced today by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture P.R. Smith. He said beef producers will be asked to register for the referendum between January 28 and February 6.

They'll vote by secret ballot February 19-22.

The order issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture authorizing the program provides for a beef board of up to 88 producers to administer the program.

There would be as many as five non-voting consumer advisors to the board. Each state or geographic area would be represented on the board in proportion to its share of the U.S. cattle industry.

The program would be funded by assessments based on the value of cattle sold. During the first two years of the program, assessments could be up to two-tenths of one percent of the value of cattle sold (20 cents per $100).

After two years, the board could recommend an increase up to five-tenths of one percent. All sellers in the marketing chain would be assessed. The buyer at the point of slaughter would deduct the total assessment and forward it to the board. Any producer could request and receive a refund of the assessment paid. Ray Fitzgerald, administrators of the Department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said his agency will conduct the referendum.

The department's Agricultural Marketing Service would monitor the program.

Rules for registering and voting in referendums have changed, noted Fitzgerald. He said the department determined that 10 days (8 working days) would be sufficient for all producers to register and that the four-day voting period would result in a more efficient voting procedure and reduce administrative costs.

A similar order, issued in 1977, although favored by 56.4 percent of voting producers, did not receive the required two-third approval.

Since that time, the Beef Research and Information Act has been amended by Congress so that a majority of producers will be sufficient for approval of the order.

Copies of the order can be obtained from the Livestock, Poultry, Grain and Seed Division, AMS, Room 2610-S, W. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Referendum rules can be obtained from local ASCS Offices or from the Emergency and Indemnity Programs Division, ASCA, Room 4095-S, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Grand Jury.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Peterson released 25 indictments Friday and five more Saturday, noting the remaining indictments pertain to suspects who have not yet posted sufficient bond and must be arrested again.

Peterson said other indictments handed down by the Grand Jury include:

Elija Belino and Jerry Bridges on six counts of armed robbery. The pair allegedly robbed Seymour's Jewelry Store in Bay St. Louis at gunpoint.

Harold Gons on two counts of burglary of a dwelling and one count of grand larceny.

David Barker on two counts of burglary of a dwelling.

Vincent Ortiz Jr. for three counts of burglary of a dwelling.

Jimmy Gibson for arson of an automobile.

Ronald Shaheyfelt for arson of an automobile and grand larceny.

Walter P. Lester for receiving stolen property.

Stanley Nelson Delle and William (Billy) Favre for burglary.

Wayne Champagne for larceny by trick; and Clement J. Delacroix Jr. for statutory rape.

In its report to Judge Grant, the Grand Jury strongly stressed the need of a new sheriff's department facility and jail.

In an apparent reference to a recent incident involving use of City of Bay St. Louis equipment and materials on Bay-Waveland Yacht Club property, the Grand Jury urged such "...abuse not be tolerated..."

The Jurors also called for "sanctions" against persons who fail to appear when summoned to jury duty.

Full text of the Grand Jury report follows:

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

JANUARY, 1980 TERM TO THE HONORABLE LESLIE GRANT, CIRCUIT JUDGE, PRESIDING:

We the Grand Jury, having been duly empaneled, sworn and charged at the January, 1980 Term, now wish to submit our final report.

We have been in session for four days, January 14, the day we were empaneled and three days since, during which time we have considered 39 cases, passed 4 cases to the next Grand Jury, returned 32 true indictments and one referred to other Courts. Two cases were stricken from docket.

Further, the Grand Jury recommends that the July 1980 Grand Jury be furnished with a copy of this report as their first order of business.

HOME FOR THE AGED
The old age home now accommodates ten patients, one full time and one part time employee. More personnel was not hired because part-time worker was put on full time. Duties include lawn care.

We found the old age home to be extremely clean and "homey" atmosphere does exist. All the patients were found to be clean and well cared for.

We have found that all electrical wall outlets in closets have been repaired, all paint cans and newspapers have been discarded. We also found the plumbing have been inspected.

We recommend new safety rails be installed in bath tub area, as is, the rail cannot be reached because of shower curtain being on the inside of tub, and hand rail is on outside. Also, it is the request of the Grand Jury that the mattresses be rotated on the beds of the bed-ridden patients.

HANCOCK GENERAL HOSPITAL
We have visited Hancock General Hospital and found it in very good condition. The physical therapy rooms are completed.

They have 12 registered nurses—eight full-time, four part-time; 12 LPN's and an adequate number of nurses' aids.

They are short three workers at this time in housekeeping. We visited the kitchen and found it to be very clean and orderly.

JAIL AND SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT
We toured the jail and sheriff's office and detention hall. The jury is concerned about the inadequate space and also finds the jail has fire hazards, also too many extension cords in cells, no light fixtures, no hot water in some cells, no exercise yard for prisoners waiting for trial or to be transferred to Parchman.

Some of the cells they are confined in are only 8 x 8. We also found the cell used to house uncontrollable prisoners (drug withdrawal) to be unsafe; no pads in this cell, just bare, concrete floors and walls.

We also found inadequate space in the sheriff's offices. All law offenders are booked in the radio room where files are kept, also all bonds are posted in this area.

This room is only 11 1/2 x 14. There is no waiting area to see sheriff or to post bond.

We have talked with Mr. Dolph Kellar, president of the Board of Supervisors, about securing funds for a new jail. Mr. Kellar informed us that the Board of Supervisors applied to Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, but at this time, the board hasn't heard from the agency.

We found that all back holding of automobiles has been removed.

CHANCERY CLERK
E. Michael Necaise, Chancery, clerk, appeared before the Grand Jury to explain the functions of the county government, and how the county government operates. Mr. Necaise informed us that at this time the county is operating in the black.

At the time Mr. Necaise appeared before us we noted that he has only been in office for two weeks.

YOUTH COURT
The Grand Jury visited the Hancock County Youth Court and found it to be in terrible need of more counselors, at this time there is a total of four people working, two counselors, state secretary, deputy clerk.

We were also informed that as of April the deputy clerk may be dismissed due to expired grant from L.E.A.A. and lack of county funds for her salary.

We the Grand Jury recommend a reconsideration of the Board of Supervisors for the funds of this employee.

Follow-up on these recommendations are to be re-evaluated by the Grand Jury in three months.

FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS
We respectfully request that sanction be brought against persons who are summoned for jury and do not appear.

We further recommend if funds are not allocated to the county for the building of a new jail by the Federal Government (fiscal year ends June 30, 1980), we ask the next Grand Jury to consider asking the Board of Supervisors to float a bond issue for a new jail.

Further we respectfully request that the Board of Supervisors and Administration of the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland be furnished a copy of this report; also, Senators Cochran and Stennis and Representative Trent Lott.

We looked into allegations of misuse of county and city equipment on private property, and recommend that due to the trust and position of power that our elected officials have, that abuse not be tolerated by themselves or by law enforcement and the citizens.

We further recommend that the Board of Supervisors room have locks put on them immediately.

We also recommend (Courtroom) bathrooms be modernized; there is no faucet in men's bathroom, ladies room; the tissue dispenser is inaccessible and there is no mirror on the wall.

All Grand Jurors wish to express their appreciation for the opportunity to serve as Grand Jurors for the County of Hancock. We have completed our duties and respectfully ask to be recessed this 17th day of January, 1980.

Richard F. Patterson
GRAND JURY FOREMAN

Ruby Life named March Chairman

Mrs. Ruby Life of Waveland has been named Chairman of the March of Dimes Mother's March for the Waveland-Bay St. Louis area.

Mrs. Life, President of the Hancock County Republican Women's Club, says her club will be heading the organization of the annual door to door fund raiser which will be held Jan. 8 through 27.

"January, the start of a new year, is a good time to sit back and count our blessings," says Mrs. Life. "More than a quarter million babies are born each year with physical or mental damage. This is particularly true of infants born to adolescent mothers."

They are at highest risk of having babies with severe or fatal defects. It is the aim of the March of Dimes to protect the unborn and the newborn.

They support programs of medical research, community services and public health education to accomplish this goal. Prevention of birth defects is a giant task, one that requires many helping hands."

To learn what residents of Waveland and Bay St. Louis believe needs to be done in the way of educational and health services, Mother's March volunteers will conduct an opinion poll at each household they visit.

Answers will help the Gulf Coast Chapter plan related programs to prevent unborn and newborn damage.

If you volunteer your time to the Mother's March. Please call Mrs. Life 467-8503 or the local March of Dimes office 868-1374.

Hancock North Central Hawks and Hawkettes were slated to face East Central and Pass Christian, respectively, in the final competition Saturday night of the Bay High Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Friday the Hawks defeated Pass Christian 62-44 in semi final action while the Hawkettes eliminated the Bay High Tigerettes 59-34 to advance in the brackets.

A quick-moving, aggressive East Central five knocked the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws from competition earlier Friday evening as the Hornets dominated the boards, 64-50.

The Hawks came on late in the second quarter to pull away from a hardnosed Pass Pirate squad to enter the finals.

In the SSC-East Central match the Hornets, taller than the Rock squad, took command of the game in the first period to move into a 17-4 lead.

Stanislaus returned with guns blazing in the second stanza as the Rock round-ballers moved within five baskets, 32-22.

The trick passing of East Central, coupled with the ability to get the ball inside under the boards, however, ate away at the tiring Rocks as they went down in defeat 64-50.

"They are bad," SSC Head Coach Bob Cuccaro said of the Hornets following the game.

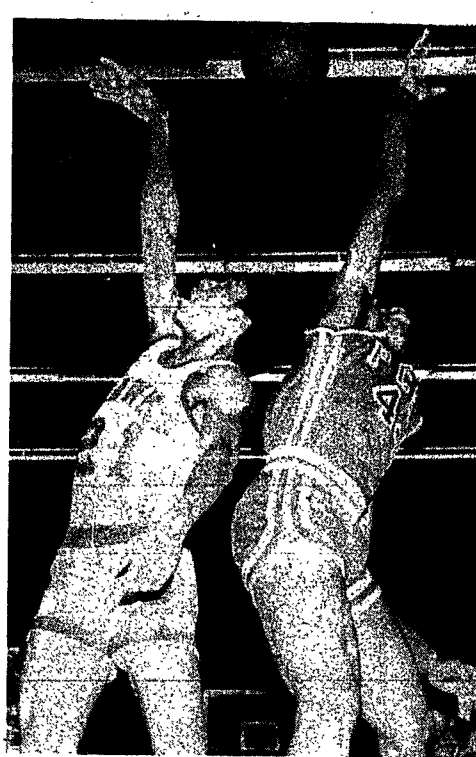

"They just outplayed us under the board. I think they tired us out near the end, too," he added.

The Hawks, playing for the first time since their 75-70 crowning win over the Gulfport Admirals in the Harrison Central Invitational Tournament, outran the Pirates to the 62-44 victory.

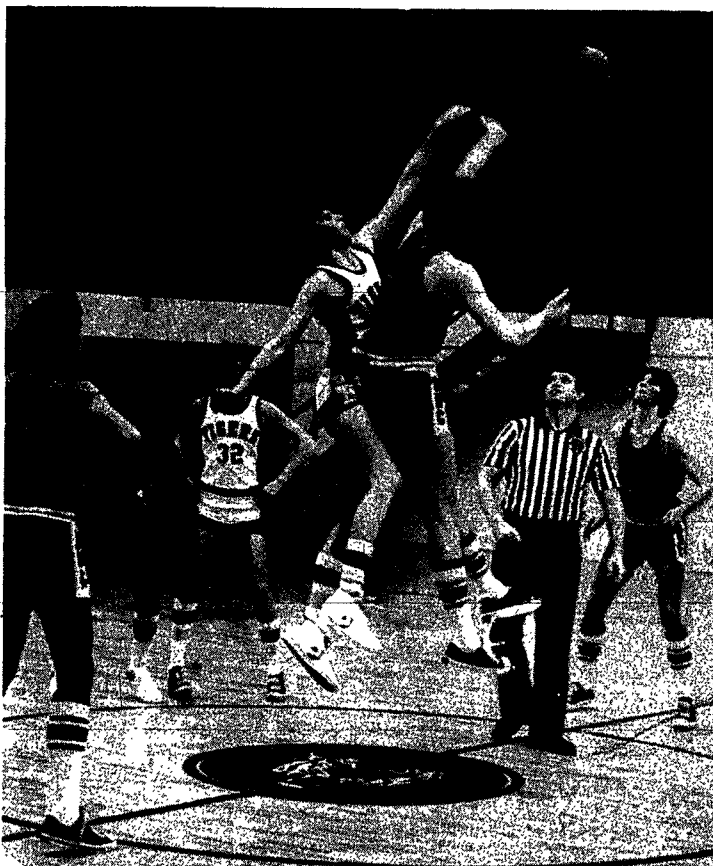

The Pass hardcourtiers remained in the game until the final period as the Hawk shooters had difficulty sinking the ball at times.

"I think when we win a tournament such as the Harrison Central Invitational, we want to come to a game such as this and blow the Pirates off the court. We may have tended to become overconfident," HNC Head Coach Roland Ladner said following the game.

Hawk Byron Ladner suffered in the shooting department after he apparently received an elbow in the eye in the first two minutes of the match.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Ladner celebrate golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland (Jim) Ladner of the Dedeaux Community celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Jan. 13.

The couple renewed their wedding vows with a Nuptial Mass at 2 p.m. at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Rev. William Vollar officiating.

Mrs. Emma Ladner, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Mr. Roosevelt Ladner served as best man.

They were also witnesses when the couple were wed on Jan. 9, 1930 at Delisle Catholic Church with the late Rev. Sorie officiating.

Mrs. Ladner is the former Mable Ladner, daughter of Batiste and Mary Ladner.

Komekia Necaise and Brian Necaise, great-grandchildren of the couple, served as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Mrs. Barbara Larsen of Kiln was organist. She played the

"The Twelfth of Never" for both the recessional and the processional and "The Lord's Prayer" for communion services.

The bride wore a street length maize dress with matching cape. A golden stem yellow rose corsage complemented her outfit and she carried a long stem yellow rose.

The matron of honor wore a beige dress with a matching lace jacket. She wore a white rose corsage and carried a pale yellow long stem rose.

A reception was held at the church center after the ceremony. The bride's table held a four-tiered wedding cake adorned with candles and ivy with yellow carnations.

Nancy Necaise sat at the register table and Tract Necaise carried the rice basket. Both are great-grandchildren of the couple.

Sandy Garriga presided at the bride's table.

Paulette Necaise, Geraldine Necaise, Diane Necaise, and

Kathy Necaise served as hostesses for the affair. All are granddaughters of the couple.

The couple has one daughter, Rose Mary Ladner, the wife of J. B. Ladner, also of the Dedeaux Community, and a foster son, Jimmy Necaise. They have nine grandchildren, five step-grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hue B. Snowden, Mr. and Mrs. Wendy Lewis, Luther Patton, and Mr. and

MR. AND MRS. ALLEN E. LANE

Caruthers, Lane married in Gulfport ceremonies

Sandre Faye Caruthers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Caruthers of Rayville, La., formerly of Bay St. Louis, and Allen Elliott Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Lane of Moss Point, Miss., were married Saturday afternoon, January 5, at Orange Grove Church of Christ in Gulfport. Dorice Mitchell performed the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of fern, arrangements of ivory, rust and brown silk flowers and brass candelabras decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory chiffon fashioned with a fitted bodice of Venice lace re-embroidered with seed pearls and long sheer sleeves gathered at the cuffs. Matching lace appliques trimmed the skirt and hemline of the chapel length train. Her tiered fingertip veil of illusion was held by a Camelot headpiece of Venice lace and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of ivory silk roses and baby's breath.

Tammy Caruthers of Monroe, La., attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Melody Caruthers, Rayville, La., and Teresa Heins, Lafayette, La., sisters of the bride; Susie Lane, Moss Point, and Loree Lane Davis, Mobile, Ala., sisters of the groom.

Mr. Lane served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Kevin Feeler, Jefferson City, Mo.; Donald Watson, Jackson, Miss.; Wes Tabor, Pearl, Miss., and Van Knight, Moss Point.

The maids wore formal cranberry chiffon gowns over taffeta and carried bouquets of miniature pink silk carnations interspersed with small burgundy flowers and greenery.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Howard Johnson's, Biloxi. Assisting at the reception were Lynne Irby, Pigot, Ark.; Sheree Farrel, Dixon, Tenn.; Sarah Schlesier, Brinkley, Ark.; Janet Head, Moss Point; Sherri Voss, Waveland, Miss.; and Tracey Stieff, Bay St. Louis.

For their wedding trip on the Gulf Coast, the bride chose a two piece brown velvet suit complemented by an ivory

Value, taste of greens lauded by home economist

HOME COOKING - A SOUTHERN TRADITION

By Shirley C. Robinson

Greens are a refreshing vegetable. They taste good and offer lots of nutritive value for the money. Turnip greens and pot liquor with cornbread topped with just a dash of pepper sauce is a favorite dish in Mississippi. For those times when fresh cooking greens may not be available look to canned or frozen turnip or mustard greens. Add a fresh cut up turnip and they are really quite tasty.

Greens are very common here and are found in most every food store year round. Local producers do an excellent job of supplying our markets with greens except for a few months out of the year.

During extremely hot and freezing weather, local supplies are short and are supplemented by those from other areas.

If you have decided to put greens on your menu, plan to serve them, "pot liquor" and all, for full value — nutrition and money wise.

The southern tradition of cooking fresh greens with bacon fat or salt pork produces a delightfully seasoned liquor called pot liquor.

The liquid left from the cooked greens has many of the food nutrients dissolved in it and makes an excellent soup, or you can use it to add flavor to most any other dish.

In addition to turnip greens you may choose mustard, spinach or collards. All of these grow well in Southern home gardens and are readily available during the fall and winter months.

Nutritionally, greens are high in vitamins A and C, as well as the important minerals calcium and iron.

When buying or selecting garden or market greens, look for crisp clean leaves with good deep green color.

Always remember, the fresher the better. Avoid excessive amounts of grit and dirt.

Avoid those that are tough or fibrous and those with yellowish leaves or brown tips. Avoid greens that have soft mushy spots on the leaves, stems or roots. Inspect closely for insect damage.

Greens may be sold in bunches or prepackaged bags. Prepackaged greens may cost a few cents more than bulk forms, but you should consider the added convenience of a trimmed, washed and easy-to-store product in making your choice.

Remember that even prepackaged, washed greens should be washed thoroughly before cooking or serving. Never soak greens but wash gently in plenty of water and lift them out of the water to free them of grit and dirt.

To preserve the quality of the greens, it is necessary that you store them properly after purchase and that they have been properly cared for from field to market. Good storage requires cold moist conditions.

For best results, store greens in a crisper or a plastic bag with ventilating holes at a temperature as near 32 degrees as possible without freezing.

Warm temperatures cause rapid deterioration, loss of nutrients and a change from dark green color to a yellowish or brownish color.

Buy only the amounts that you can use within a few days because tender greens do not keep well. A pound of most greens will cook down to about four servings, although there are some variations.

Buy only the amounts that you can use within a few days because tender greens do not keep well. A pound of most greens will cook down to about four servings. Although there are some variations.

To save nutritive value when cooking greens, cook or steam in a small amount of water until just tender. The water remaining on the greens after washing is usually sufficient to cook them.

For a really southern meal, serve greens, pot liquor, cornbread, a meat and beverage and you are in for a treat.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale
and Ruth Stafford Peale

Worries and eats

Q. Where can I find the courage and willpower for a diet? I must lose 30 pounds. I tried several types of diets and just can't seem to get enough willpower to give up food. When I worry I eat. I'm not hungry, just nervous.

A. Where can you find the courage and willpower to diet? In only one place—within yourself. Your failure with diets is that you are trying to use willpower instead of the greater power of imagination.

Form in your mind a picture of the weight you desire. Visualize yourself at the desired weight, then eat only those things that will bring your picture into being. I know this method will work for I practice it myself successfully, I'm glad to report.

I once wrote a booklet with my brother (an M.D.) titled Live Longer and Better, which I am sending to you. If any reader would like a free copy, write to us at Box 500, Pawling N.Y. 12564.

Where did she go wrong?

Q. I have done my best to rear my grandson right. He's very intelligent, made A grades and won a scholarship for college. Lately he swears and talks vulgar a lot. He keeps company with a boy like that. He has an uncontrollable temper and thinks everyone doesn't like him. Where did I go wrong? Will he stop being like that when he goes to college and gets in other company?

A. There is no logical reason to assume from your grandson's action that you did anything wrong. You should not blame yourself, but be patient and try to discover a reason for his sudden boorish behavior. Perhaps you could talk with a wise teacher in his high school who might help you understand this change.

If he selects a small, coeducational college where one-to-one relationships are developed between professor and student, there can be a good chance of his being guided. This may be a phase in his growing up.

Meanwhile, treat him normally, but don't baby him. If he is intelligent, as you report, perhaps ultimately he will get with it.

St. Rose Parish Mission to feature Rev. Boucree

St. Rose deLima Catholic Church will sponsor a Parish Mission January 26-31. Father Thaddeus C. Boucree, SVD will be guest speaker.

Father Bernard Kellar, St. Rose pastor, said, "The purpose of the mission is to bring people closer to God and to strengthen their faith."

Father Boucree is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus S. Boucree of New Orleans, La.

He attended both parochial and public schools in New Orleans before beginning priesthood studies at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis.

He was ordained a priest on June 24, 1952.

In July, 1953 he was assigned as associate pastor to Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Lafayette, La.

His first pastorate was health, civil and human rights.

He spent nine months in 1975 on the Divine Word vocation recruiting team.

In 1976 he returned to Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans for studies in scripture and theology.

He taught religion at St. Mary's Academy of New Orleans and served as chaplain at the academy.

Since the first days of his priesthood, he has been called upon for special speaking assignments all over the country. His favorite is conducting parish missions.

Currently, that is his main work. At the same time he continues to serve as chaplain and religious education consultant at St. Mary's Academy.

During the past few years, he has been involved with the Prayer Movement. He has shared with small groups at their regular weekly meetings, and he has occasionally served larger groups for days of renewal in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Mississippi and Louisiana.

He is presently in residence at St. Francis de Sales Church, New Orleans.

REV. T.C. BOUCREE

August, 1956 at Holy Rosary Church in Hattiesburg.

Other pastoral assignments until 1975 included St. Gabriel's Church, Mound Bayou, Miss.; St. Joseph's Parish, Elton and Basile, La.; and St. Augustine Church, North Little Rock, Ark.

He was involved in many community oriented organizations such as credit unions, co-ops, community action programs, consumer higher than God; nor beyond His reach and power to accommodate it. But you can stretch your faith all the way up, up, up to Him! "And he said, the things which are impossible with men are possible with God" (Luke 18:27).

"But Jesus said unto them, with men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:27).

"But Jesus said unto them, with men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:26).

Again the Master declared: "If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth" (Mark 9:23).

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear" (Heb. 11:1,3).

Faith, then, is indeed the eye of the soul. Faith is the hand that confidently reaches forth and lays hold upon the unfailing promises of God. "But without faith it is impossible to please him: For he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Heb. 11:6).

Pulpit Points

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

"NOW THE JUST SHALL LIVE BY FAITH.... (Hebrews 10:38) are the words of the scriptures. A man's faith cannot grow strong and healthy when it is never exercised. "Have faith in God!" cried the Master.

Practice thinking in greater dimensions. Make sure that Christ is the author and object of your faith. Ask and expect great things of God, and you will never be disappointed.

When you think small, you will remain small. When small things, small matters and small people capture your mind, it is like wasting your time and energy "shuckin' nubbins."

You experience small things in life. The life God has given you is more important than that. God is not only the God of the "possible." He is also the God of the "impossible."

The person who prays believing that through faith in God, seemingly impossible things can happen, will develop a strong personal faith.

In fact you can measure your faith by your concept of the impossible. Think big; pray with anticipation; Believe with all your heart; See God as being greater than your needs and problems, and you'll find your life a much greater experience than you ever dreamed it could be.

Never settle for that which is too limited. God is not limited! Learn to accept the big things that life has to offer to those who have a large faith in the God of Greatness!

Practice letting your mind stretch itself within the knowledge, principles, promises and possibilities revealed in God's Word. Deliberately think bigger and bigger thoughts of faith.

Do not hug the shore. Launch out into the depths. Do not fear high places. With real faith in God you can reach higher than you think you can! Think high, wide and deep! He is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us..... (Eph. 3:20-21).

You will never go any higher than your thoughts, your prayers and your faith. So practice stretching your faith. You can never stretch it

YOUR HEALTH

Dr.
William Powell

Headaches that persist or reoccur frequently are danger signals that something is amiss. Masking the pain with aspirin or pain killers may seem an easy way for relief, however if the trouble is not corrected, related symptoms begin to appear. Usually the headaches that used to present themselves in different areas begin to localize in one area or one side of the head, and the patient's illness is diagnosed as migraine. After extensive examinations for tumors, past fractures and what have you, the patient begins to believe that they just have to live with it. Don't believe it. Never forget that for every effect there must be a cause. Remove the cause and you have no headaches.
